CARNES FUNERAL HOME

Jay Carnes walked out of the doors of Commonwealth Institute of Mortuary Science in 1999 as a funeral director and began his journey down the funeral industry road, which led him to owning and operating Carnes Funeral Home. He and his wife, Lori, started building Carnes Funeral Home in 2003 with the goal of becoming the funeral home of choice in the communities they served by providing families with options that were not found at the average funeral home while also providing respectful, personalized, unparalleled service levels, all at a great value.

JAY CARNES
Owner
Carnes Funeral Home

When the business began, the staff included Jay, Lori and couple of team members. Today, the Carnes Funeral Home organization consists of 20-plus funeral directors and embalmers with 70-plus team members. The Carnes Funeral Home organization not only provides options and services to families in the local communities, but it also handles multiple contracts, providing services for entities and families all across the state of Texas.

While the number of family owned and operated independent funeral homes is shrinking, Jay believes they are the essence of what they do as funeral directors. The Carnes family helps other families during some of their most difficult days. It is what Jay believed when he opened Carnes Funeral Home and it is what he believes today.

Jay lives for life and likes to celebrate it. One of his passions is the Carnes Parade Krewe. Over the years, Jay has built a collection of parade vehicles that he takes all across southeast Texas. Carnes employees, friends, friends of friends and community members all ride on them. Jay enjoys seeing children and adults catch beads and toys the krewe throws to them in parades, sometimes five in one day.

"This is what life is about," Jay said. "It is about connecting with people and making them happy for whatever second or moment you have with them." (www.carnesfuneralhome.com)

CLASSIC AUTO GROUP GALVESTON

In January 2012, Howie Bentley and his wife, Renae, purchased Classic Auto Group Galveston, selling a full line of automobiles, including Honda, Chevrolet, GMC, Cadillac, Buick, Toyota, Ford and a great selection of pre-owned vehicles.

Since 2012, Bentley's vision for growth in the community still remains the same, "taking care of our customers and our community."

Bentley has taken on several different renovations to his dealerships over the past nine years. They all have been updated with the newest technology and efficient- and energy-saving lighting. With the new electric vehicles arriving, Classic Auto Group has added new charging stations to all of its facilities so they are up to date. The Bentleys have future plans for a new facility where the Ron Hoover Marine is located.

Bentley feels being involved in the community and supporting local businesses is a vital key to the success of his business. Shopping local on the island is something he works hard at doing every day. He encourages his employees to always shop local to help provide for the community. Classic Auto Group is a family-owned dealership that puts great pride in taking care of its customers.

Bentley's team has received various awards from the manufacturers for the results he and his staff have accomplished over the past several years, the most recent is the Honda President's Award. Bentley also serves on the National Dealer Council for Chevrolet, as well as various boards, including the Galveston Regional Chamber of Commerce and the Galveston Economic Development Partnership. He is a member of the Galveston Rotary Club, as well as a sponsor of several organizations.

Bentley and his wife live in Galveston. Their son Nick Bentley also is actively involved in the dealership and completed NADA Dealer Academy in Virginia. All of the family is actively involved in the community. (www.classicgalveston.com)

Island Beach Patrol, Coastal Zone Management, Seawall parking and the following parks: Stewart Beach, East Beach, Sea-wolf Park and Dellanera RV Park. The Texas Legislature created the organization in 1962 to direct tourism efforts. The organization receives no sales or property taxes and is primarily funded by visitors through hotel occupancy tax revenues and beach user fees.

Beach Projects

Noteworthy projects the Park Board has undertaken include building and nourishing its beaches. With state and local officials, the Park Board created a new beach, Babe's Beach, west of 61st street in 2015. In 2017, the organization and its partners widened existing seawall beaches between 10th and 61st streets. Future plans call for nourishing existing beaches regularly to help protect the area from storm surges.

Galveston Island Convention & Visitors Bureau

The Galveston Island Convention & Visitors Bureau (CVB) employs marketing, public relations and sales teams to attract leisure and business travelers. Last year, Galveston drew 7.3 million visitors. The CVB also promotes special events and campaigns to support tourism and the businesses that are the industry's beneficiaries.

Galveston Island Beach Patrol

The safety of beachgoers is the primary concern for the Galveston Island Beach Patrol (GIBP). An award-winning staff patrols beaches, performs preventative actions and rescues and informs beachgoers about water conditions. Last year, GIBP representatives traveled to schools in the Galveston-Houston area delivering water safety information to more than 5,000 students.

Coastal Zone Management

The Coastal Zone Management (CZM) team is responsible for cleaning trash and removing debris from Galveston's 32 miles of beaches. Each day, the crew is up before dawn to ensure Galveston's shores are clean, green and pristine for visitors and residents.

Advisory Committees

Citizen-led advisory committees help shape Park Board decisions and policies. They include Tourism Development, Beach Maintenance and Parks and Amenities. A schedule of committee and board meetings, and more information about the Galveston Park Board, can be found online. (www.galvestonparkboard.org) their families and raises funds for local charities.

GALVESTON MUNICIPAL POLICE OFFICERS ASSOCIATION

GMPA provides a strong voice for professionalism, training and public service within the law enforcement community. In addition, GMPA is active in the local political arena, advocating on behalf of law enforcement and employee rights to best protect all Galveston residents.

The Mitchell family is committed to the overall success and revitalization of The Strand District, Pier 21 and Galveston Island. For more than 40 years, the Mitchells have invested more than $175 million in rehabilitating historic properties in The Strand National Historic Landmark District.

MHP estimates $24 million was put forth for the cost of disaster relief, cleanup and building renovation for the more than 20 buildings damaged in the storm and aftermath.

In 2011, the family completed an $11 million renovation of the Historic Hotel Galvez as part of the hotel's Centennial Celebration.

The Hendley Row Building, built in 1855, is located at the intersection of Strand and 20th streets. It is the oldest surviving commercial building in Galveston. The family renovated the Hendley Row Building and work was completed in 2016 at a cost of $4 million.

PRESTIGE OYSTER'S INC.

Prestige Oyster's is a private family run fully integrated business specializing in growing and processing oysters.

JOHNNY & LISA HALILI
CEO
Prestige Oyster's Inc.

CEO Johnny Halili migrated from Albania to the U.S. in the 1970s. Landing in the projects of Chicago, Halili got his first job at a local car wash. After moving from job to job, Johnny made his way down to Louisiana after hearing of work from his cousin. Having never been on a boat, Halili began working as a deckhand.

After many hard years of working as a deckhand, Halili bought his first boat, Lady Katherine. Halili's best deckhand was his wife, Lisa, and together they weathered many cold winters oyster harvesting and hot summers shrimping to create an oyster company leading the industry in safe, sustainable oysters.

At present day, Prestige Oyster's is still a family-run business with Johnny, Lisa and son Raz Halili running day-to-day operations. Prestige Oyster's has three full-time processing plants and provides market for over 100 boats stretching across the Gulf Coast. (www.prestigeoysters.com)

T&T SALVAGE

In 1957, after serving in the U.S. Army and working for numerous companies, including Marine Machine Works and Todd Shipyard as a machinist, Rudy Teichman established T&T Marine Ways Inc., a small shipyard on the end of Teichman Point. The business consisted of a dock for working on small vessels, a machine shop and a small dredge. Later, a marine railway was built to perform dry repairs on small vessels. In 1960, Rudy Teichman bought a wooden tug named "Josephine." He re-floated and rebuilt the vessel to provide towing services in the area. Hurricane Carla struck Galveston in 1961, destroying the shipyard. Teichman started over and by 1964, he was expanding again, hiring more employees and building bigger, better facilities and vessels.

Recognizing the need for salvage equipment along the Texas Coast, Teichman started T&T Marine Salvage Inc. Using little more than ingenuity and experience, he raised sunken boats and barges. In 1976, he bought a steam crane with a capacity of 75 tons for heavy lift work. Today, T&T owns and operates a wide assortment of equipment, providing a wide range of services, including OPA 90 Response, Salvage and Marine Firefighting Services.

With more than 40 locations in the United States and its territories, operational bases in South America, Europe and Asia, Teichman Group has strategically positioned offices and alliances across the globe to provide a full range of maritime services and emergency response solutions. T&T owns state-of-the-art portable equipment capable of being dispatched anywhere in the world on a moment's notice.

The dedication, integrity and pride Teichman exhibited throughout his career is alive and well at T&T. His wife, Donna, has taken over as CEO of the companies and his oldest son, Kevin, continues to run the companies along with his sister, Kelly.

THE DAILY NEWS

The Daily News is not your everyday local newspaper. The year was 1842. Texas was still a Republic, and Gen. Sam Houston was finishing his last term as president. Galveston was not yet an incorporated town, but the Gulf Coast village did have a robust population of about 4,000 residents. Serving as a hub and economic engine to the rest of Texas, Galveston quickly became the largest port city, providing access to anything that came through the Gulf of Mexico.

President/publisher

The Daily News

On April 11, 1842, the first edition of the Galveston Daily News was published in a small building on Tremont Street. Eventually The Daily News grew from a weekly, to bi-weekly, a tri-weekly and finally today's daily hybrid print and digital model. The newspaper founded a sister publication, The Dallas Morning Star, on Oct. 1, 1885. Also, The Daily News was the first paper in Texas to have a dedicated train line, as well as a telephone.

The Daily News is privately held by Southern Newspapers Inc., home to a dozen other local community newspapers. Lissa Walls, daughter of founder Carmage Walls, is the owner of Southern Newspapers; Leonard Woolsey serves as president for the company as well as publisher of The Daily News.

Located in a building specially built to weather tropical storms and hurricanes, The Daily News can be found at 8522 Teichman Road on Galveston Island.

SLICE OF LIFE

Program teaches young entrepreneurs to take a stand

The business of the Galveston Regional Chamber of Commerce is nurturing local businesses, including those created by area school children through the chamber's annual Lemonade Day. Now an international program that began in Houston in 2007, Lemonade Day is dedicated to helping prepare young people for life by building self-esteem, personal responsibility and financial literacy through individual and group business projects guided by a central shared curriculum.

"When Michael Holthouse started Lemonade Day, he had a dream of a million kids around the nation doing it," Galveston Regional Chamber of Commerce President and CEO Gina Spagnola said.

Holthouse expanded the concept by selling licenses to organizations that wanted to participate, and Galveston was the first chamber of commerce to purchase a license to use the curriculum and brand, Spagnola said.

"This is what we do, promote business, and along with that, the ability to grow our own entrepreneurs just seemed right," Spagnola said.

For a decade, school-age kids in Galveston County have participated, putting together lemonade stands, selling products, keeping tabs of costs and revenues, donating proceeds to local nonprofits and learning budgeting and marketing skills in the process. The chamber provides incentives like backpacks, T-shirts, literature on financial literacy, awards and community recognition.

Among the young entrepreneurs have been students from Ambassadors Preparatory Academy in Galveston, a public charter school serving children from prekindergarten through eighth grade.

"Our students learn how to make money, how to share money, how to save money and how to spend money through a program that ties into Texas Education Agency's essential skills," Superintendent Patricia Williams said.

Students also learn social skills through project-based learning activities that can be integrated into the whole curriculum, Williams said.

"Interactive learning like this is critical for our students to enjoy learning," she said.

In 2020, students at Ambassadors were extra creative, making a drive-through Lemonade Day experience that met social-distancing guidelines while allowing students to sell their wares. Rather than setting up individual lemonade stands throughout the community, each grade at the school had its own stand, housed in a tent set up along Avenue U in front of the school.

Their efforts earned individual classes, students and the school a raft of prizes, including cash that goes into a school bank from which funds can be withdrawn to support special projects, Williams said.

Williams pointed with particular pride to one former Ambassadors student, Brandon Edwards, now attending Prairie View A&M University, who took what he learned from Lemonade Day and started his own car-washing business while in high school.

Beyond helping themselves, students also learn to help others, said Jennifer Goodman, superintendent of Odyssey Academy.

"My favorite part is to see how the students take giving back to heart and choose a very worthy non-profit group to benefit from their donation," said Goodman, who is also a chamber board member and co-chair of Lemonade Day Galveston County.

Odyssey Academy has a middle school enrichment program dedicated to entrepreneurship through Lemonade Day.

"Lemonade Day is one of the best activities that brings the community together by focusing on financial literacy for students, sparking entrepreneurial passion in children, and helping them see many ways to achieve their goals and dreams," Goodman said.

FRUITS OF LABOR

Talk about turning lemons into lemonade. In 2020, Upward Hope Academy, a small tuition-free private school for economically disadvantaged high school students in Galveston, was named Business of the Year for Lemonade Day.

Galveston County, a project sponsored by the Galveston Regional Chamber of Commerce.

"They had the highest sales," Chamber President and CEO Gina Spagnola said. "All participants fill out a business results form and report back on how they did with their projects. Upward Hope won a gigantic trophy that they have proudly displayed in the school and $100 cash. It's a big deal."

Indeed, the trophy case inside the school's entryway is a great source of pride, said Cathy Frederickson, Upward Hope's volunteer executive director. Participants in Lemonade Day for a decade, Upward Hope students have won numerous awards over the years.

"We don't have a football team or those kinds of extracurriculars, so these awards mean a lot to us," Frederickson said.

Challenged by the COVID-19 pandemic to create lemonade stands that were safely spaced, students at Upward Hope set up stands throughout the school's front garden just before Halloween and invited the community to come by, get candy, wear costumes and buy the students' wares.

"It was a real Halloween adventure," Frederickson said. "The students all dressed up in costume. They decorated each stand in different ways and decorated the whole front of the school."

Having fun and inviting the community in was just part of the project. Students engaged in pre-sales and marketing, budgeted their project and turned it into a fundraiser for the school that provides them an education at no cost.

"They raised quite a bit in donations to the school," Frederickson said.

Money also was raised to support visitors to Galveston's Seafarers' Center in the form of donated gift boxes stuffed with gloves, hats, treats and journals. Students chose the nonprofit agency as the beneficiary of their efforts.

Some funds were set aside for a field trip to the Holocaust Museum Houston in the spring.

"They want to understand what resilience means, what those people who suffered during the Holocaust ended up accomplishing and contributing to the world," Frederickson said.

The financial literacy curriculum for Lemonade Day is integrated into economics classes and business education at Upward Hope, and is an important part of students' learning experience, Frederickson said.

"A lot of our students want to be valuable employees, to be business entrepreneurs," she said. "We really stress the fact that when they earn something, to respect it, and that they can do it, they can learn how to make it happen."

"We don't have a football team or those kinds of extracurriculars, so these awards mean a lot to us."

PARTNERS IN PROMOTION

Chamber, visitors center team up to enhance the Galveston experience

In early March, the Galveston Regional Chamber of Commerce will relocate to a new location at 2121 Market St. in downtown Galveston. And moving with them will be Galveston's official Visitors Center, a function of the Galveston Park Board's Convention and Visitors Bureau.

"Since COVID, the Visitors Center has shared space with us," Chamber President and CEO Gina Spagnola said. "And when we move, they will be coming along with us. We'll have a lot more room for both of us."

The island's Visitors Center, previously located on the grounds of Ashton Villa, has shared space in the chamber's lobby at 2228 Mechanic St. for a number of years and consolidated both locations there during the past year, the bureau's Chief Tourism Officer Michael Woody said.

That move paved the way for a permanent partnership that will offer visitors a chance to learn about and experience more of Galveston than in the past, Woody said.

Dedicated to guiding island visitors to historic spots, recreational and cultural activities, the Visitors Center can draw from chamber resources to advise visitors about businesses, real estate and other assets that may interest them.

"There's always been a great synergy between what both organizations do," Woody said. "Visitors coming to pick up brochures and collateral on potential island experiences may also be looking to stay in Galveston, to relocate or to open a business, and the chamber's in-depth knowledge of the business community enhances that experience."

Talks have been at play for about eight years and are finally coming to permanent fruition, a good thing for island tourism and for the business community, said Park Board Executive Director Kelly de Schaun said.

"The opportunity to leverage an existing downtown facility that is connected with our business community is a real value add for both chamber members and our efforts," de Schaun said.

Chamber employees have a wealth of knowledge about Galveston and have proven to be great ambassadors for the island to visitors, Woody said.

"It gives visitors a really locally focused experience, talking to people who work closely with businesses and restaurants," he said.

Similar missions bond the chamber to the Park Board's Convention and Visitors Bureau, and combining those missions in a shared location only strengthens both, Woody said.

"We're all about driving business and visitors to the island, sharing all the neat qualities that make it a great place to live and, in turn, a great place to visit," Woody said.

"To be a great place where tourists want to come, it has to be a place where people want to live. This partnership gives us an opportunity to have some positive impact on both the residential experience and the visitor experience."

The multifaceted economic base offers myriad opportunities in an ever-increasing job market. The biggest industries include tourism, health care, research, education and maritime.

The beautiful natural world that surrounds the Island only adds to the richness of life here. Galveston Island State Park has 2,000 acres of surf, beach, dunes, coastal prairie, freshwater ponds, wetlands, bayous and bay shoreline.

Business is bustling here, shored up by the Galveston Regional Chamber of Commerce with more than 800 members and a history that dates back 176 years on the island.

A RICH AND STORIED PAST

The story of Galveston is a page-turner — adventure, tragedy, opulence, generosity and sacrifice, bound by a strong streak of grit and gumption that are trademarks of its residents even today.

When Europeans arrived on Galveston Island, they found it inhabited by Karankawa Indians. The first noted visitor was Spanish explorer Cabeza de Vaca, who landed here in 1528.

French privateer Jean Laffite made his home in Galveston in 1817, and rumors still are whispered of Laffite's treasure buried somewhere on the Island.

Galveston became an established port under the Mexican government in 1825. City leaders developed the wharves and railroads at the only deep-water port between New Orleans and Tampico, Mexico.

In 1836, the year that Texas gained its independence from Mexico and became a republic, the city of Galveston was born.

As one of the first settlements in Texas, Galveston served as the state's primary port for almost a century, as well as a major hub for immigration. It was a gateway to Texas and represented the promise of the American dream.

The island grew into a bustling center of commerce with wharves, cotton warehouses, banks, stores and an opera house. Cattle ranching thrived on the Island where cattle could quickly be shipped out.

From the late 1800s, through the Roaring '20s and decades following, cowboys drove herds of cattle down the seawall, steering them left at 37th Street and to the port.

By 1899, Galveston boasted of more millionaires per capita than any other U.S. city. Elegant mansions were built in the forward-looking city that had equipped itself with telegraphs, telephones and electricity.

But in 1900, the city was devastated by a hurricane.

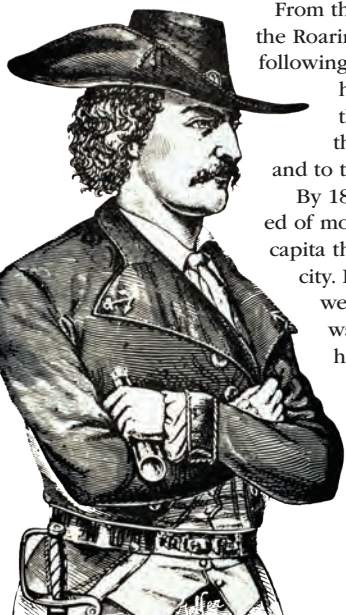

On Sept. 8, 1900, the storm swept ashore with winds estimated at up to 140 mph and a storm surge of nearly 16 feet. While an exact death toll isn't known, it is estimated that 6,000 to 8,000 of the island's 37,000 residents perished in the 1900 Storm.

Afterward, Galveston literally lifted itself up. City leaders constructed a seawall and raised the level of 500 city blocks.

While the city lost its footing as a leading cultural and business center and even as the state's primary seaport in the aftermath of the storm, Galveston would eventually rebound.

The tenacity of those who rebuilt the city after the 1900 Storm lives on today in Galveston's residents, who once again rebuilt after Hurricane Ike damaged about 80 percent of the island's homes and buildings in 2008.

In 2019, Galveston played host to 7.3 million visitors, who spent $883 million and generated a $1.2 billion impact for the local economy. They are attracted to the same features that brought visitors more than 100 years ago — the island's natural beauty, first-class dining and hotels, the arts, cultural activities and recreational attractions.

EXCELLENCE IN EDUCATION

Galvestonians place a high regard on education. The city boasts a strong public and private school system that gives parents and students several options. Some graduates continue their education on Galveston Island at one of three institutions of higher learning: Galveston College, the University of Texas Medical Branch and Texas A&M University at Galveston.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

GALVESTON INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Galveston ISD is a public school district in Texas, established in 1884, that serves nearly 7,000 students. Its 12 Schools of Choice campuses consist of traditional and theme-based schools, charter schools, STEM programs, magnet schools and a mega-magnet high school. The district's mission is to educate, engage and empower each student for a life of excellence.

Galveston ISD campuses stretch from Oppe Elementary School on the West End of Galveston Island to Crenshaw Elementary and Middle School on Bolivar Peninsula. Instead of following the rigid boundaries of school zones, Galveston ISD follows a unique Schools of Choice model, which allows all students to apply to any program in the district that has space. There are magnet programs, neighborhood-style schools and charter-based schools.

Middle schools offer pre-advanced placement credits, and Ball High School has access to free or discounted dual credit hours from Galveston College, as well as advanced placement classes. Galveston ISD also partners with Moody Early Childhood Center to serve children from 6 weeks old to prekindergarten as well as 4-year-old children.

The student body is ethnically and culturally diverse. Seventy-four percent of the students enrolled are economically disadvantaged. Almost 50 percent of all students are Hispanic, 23 percent are African American, 22 percent are White, 2 percent are Asian and 3 percent are made up of other races.

Galveston ISD was financially sound in 2020, having achieved a rating of "A" for "superior achievement" for the 10th year in a row. This is the state's highest rating under the Financial Integrity Rating System of Texas.

The district was not rated for academic accountability in 2019-20, but the Texas Education Association rating for the 2018-19 school year is a B with an overall grade of 88/100, making it the third highest rated public school district out of the seven districts in Galveston County. ## AMBASSADORS PREPARATORY ACADEMY

Ambassadors Preparatory Academy is an open-enrollment public charter school with a mission focused on having a learner-centered environment by actually involving students, parents, employees and the community. All stakeholders will focus on the unique needs of the individual student to provide programs and activities for critical thinking, problem solving and research.

Teachers receive a substantial degree of curricular and instructional freedom in exchange for high expectations for effective classroom practice and student performance. Teaching and learning are focused on real-life situations, so students can understand the relevance of information to their everyday lives.

Project-based learning and field studies are used extensively to accomplish this objective. Lessons are differentiated to meet the needs of each student, and a variety of activities are chosen to reinforce concepts and 21st-century skills (communication, innovation, collaboration and presentation). In addition to a rigorous academic curriculum, Ambassadors Prep offers courses in visual and performing arts. (www.apagalv.org)

ODYSSEY ACADEMY

Odyssey Academy is an open-enrollment public charter school with more than 1,400 students at three locations in Galveston, El Lago and Texas City. The schools aim to provide the best learning environment throughout the Gulf Coast area, serving students from prekindergarten through high school.

The academy focuses on four effective approaches that, in combination, set the school apart from other public-school programs:

1. Odyssey Academy offers a full-day

- prekindergarten program for qualifying 3- and 4-year-old children. There is strong evidence showing that children who participate in high quality Pre-K programs enter school more ready to learn, and Odyssey believes parents should have the opportunity to give their children this advantage.

2. Odyssey focuses on leadership skills from prekindergarten through high school using Franklin Covey's Leader in Me program with the foundational purpose to create well-rounded learners who become life-ready leaders. The Bay Area school officially has attained Lighthouse Status, which only 10 percent of the 4,500 plus schools in the international program have reached.

3. Odyssey is a STEAM school (science, technology, engineering, art and mathematics). Teachers focus on these subjects to help students develop critical thinking and problem-solving skills.

4. The academy offers dual credit and early college programs. Dual credit allows students to earn college credits while still attending high school. Early College is an innovative program that helps students earn an associate's degree while simultaneously earning their high school diploma. With four graduating classes, 117 graduates have earned 42 associate degrees. (www.odyssey-academy.com)

Middle school students looking to get a headstart on their high school career and high school/homeschool students wanting to expand their curriculum can attend individual classes taught by highly qualified education professionals in a clean, safe and happy environment. Courses offered include biology, Spanish, German, speech, robotics with coding, chemistry, U.S. history, economics and ACT/SAT prep and college entrance exam mathematics.

The small student-to-teacher ratio of 12:1 lends itself to a familial atmosphere that helps shape positive character and facilitates a more personalized way of teaching. Students receive one-on-one help when they need it, with no fear of getting overlooked, and their individual talents are recognized and encouraged.

In the last 10 years, O'Connell graduates have been awarded a total of nearly $10 million in collegiate scholarships. The class of 2018 alone was awarded a record-breaking $1,641,976.

Families are encouraged to attend a tour of the campus and meet the faculty and staff, and/or have their child shadow an O'Connell student for a day. Tours and shadow appointments can be set up through the admissions office. (oconnellprep.com)

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS MEDICAL BRANCH

Established as the state's first medical school in 1891, UTMB has trained more health care professionals than any other Texas academic health center. UTMB is continually expanding enrollment in its schools of medicine, nursing, health professions and graduate biomedical sciences.

To accommodate growth and help address critical health care workforce shortages in Texas and beyond, UTMB opened its new, state-of-the-art Health Education Center in 2019. The $90.4 million facility supports interprofessional education to ensure graduates are well-prepared to work as part of a health care team, and it features advanced-simulation technology to help students hone their skills in a low-risk, high-realism environment. The Health Education Center is one of only a handful of simulation centers in the state and the campus's latest investment in its education mission.

Through innovative curricula, hands-on learning and an emphasis on working together as an interprofessional team, UTMB is training the health care leaders of tomorrow and advancing the institution's mission — to improve health for the people of Texas and around the world — well into the future. # THE BEST IN HEALTH CARE

Health care on Galveston Island is world-class with a global impact. Vaccine development, burn care research, Ebola vaccine and treatment research, epilepsy care and tropical disease research are just a few of the areas where the University of Texas Medical Branch has garnered acclaim on a world stage.

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS MEDICAL BRANCH

For more than 128 years, UTMB has been a major provider of health care in Galveston, throughout the greater region and beyond.

UTMB Health continues to expand access to expert patient care at each of its hospital campuses in Galveston, League City, Angleton, Danbury and Clear Lake, as well as through its comprehensive primary and specialty care network throughout Southeast Texas.

As the region grows, UTMB Health is committed to meeting the health care needs of the communities it serves. UTMB's system of care includes hospitals and emergency departments on four campuses, a network of primary and specialty care clinics and urgent care services. No matter where patients enter the UTMB Health network, providers, clinics and hospitals seamlessly are connected to one another to ensure patients receive the very best care, close to home.

John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, the longtime anchor of the island campus, recently completed a renovation of the Mother/Baby Labor & Delivery Unit with the renovation of the Level IV Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) occurring in late spring. The $133 million renovation of John Sealy Hospital also includes enhanced technological capabilities, expanded patient rooms and an improved hospital exterior. It is adjacent to the Jennie Sealy Hospital that opened in 2016 and offers advanced health care services to patients in a soothing, healing environment that also supports state-of-the-art training for future health professionals. The Galveston Campus also is a Level 1 Trauma Center and certified comprehensive stroke center.

Patients who live in northern Galveston County and surrounding Bay Area communities now have convenient access to the finest inpatient and outpatient care, advanced treatment options and outstanding emergency and urgent care services at two UTMB Health hospital campuses — League City and Clear Lake (Webster).

The League City Hospital Campus recently completed construction of a new five-story patient tower for the expansion of medical and surgical services at this campus. And, the campus houses a regional MD Anderson outpatient cancer center in the first partnership of its kind among University of Texas health institutions.

Residents of the Bay Area have access to the university's newest hospital, the UTMB Health Clear Lake Campus. Working with physicians in the community, UTMB offers the latest treatment options and advanced procedures in adult and pediatric inpatient and outpatient care. The campus is a primary stroke certified center and has state-of-the-art interventional suites for cardiac procedures. A new pediatric inpatient hospital and emergency services opened in early 2020 in collaboration with Children's Memorial Hermann.

Those who live in southern Brazoria County have immediate and convenient access to exemplary inpatient and outpatient care services, including an acute care hospital on the UTMB Health Angleton Danbury Campus.

RESEARCH

UTMB's robust research enterprise is helping define the future of the health sciences.

With $130 million in research expenditures for fiscal year 2020, UTMB scientists are addressing the need for new diagnostics, preventive measures and treatments for a number of pressing health concerns, including internationally recognized research on infectious diseases, such as Ebola and Zika, and groundbreaking work on identifying, testing for, preventing and treating COVID-19.

The university conducts life-saving research in such fields as chronic diseases, including heart disease, Alzheimer's, Parkinson's and diabetes; environmental health and asthma; burns and inflammation; traumatic brain injury; and addiction.

With internationally renowned programs in infectious diseases and vaccine development, UTMB is home to the Sealy Institute for Vaccine Sciences and the Galveston National Laboratory, the only national lab in Texas and one of only two national labs in the U.S. dedicated to the safe study of infectious threats to health. (www.utmbhealth.com)

ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

Galveston Island's diverse economy and robust workforce make it an ideal location for business development. The city has seen steady growth during the past five years in the tourism and hospitality, education, health care, research and maritime industries. With public infrastructure improvements in the works and expansions in these industries expected in coming years, the economic outlook is strong.

TOURISM & HOSPITALITY

Galveston Island is one of the “it” destinations in Texas, and the industry has grown steadily in recent years. Tourists are drawn to the resort-style accommodations, plentiful shopping and dining opportunities, world-class attractions and highly anticipated special events throughout the year. The city experienced record visitation and tourism-related revenue in 2019, with 7.3 million travelers spending $883 million and generating a $1.2 billion impact for the local economy.

HEALTH CARE

In addition to providing health care education, UTMB's health system provides comprehensive health care, including 24/7/365 emergency care at the only Level 1 Trauma Center south of Houston, and a full range of specialty care services.

RESEARCH

UTMB Health contributes to the future of health care through medical research on a broad range of topics, including infectious diseases, vaccine development, cancer, diabetes and more. The Galveston National Laboratory is one of only two national labs devoted to the safe study of infectious disease and the only such facility in Texas.

EAT, PLAY, LOVE

No matter what you love to do in life, you'll find it in abundance here. With world-class attractions, captivating historical landmarks, and festivals rich with food, music and entertainment, the next adventure is always waiting just around the corner.

THE GREAT OUTDOORS

Galveston Island is known for its great restaurants, historical charm and first-rate attractions, but it's also a popular place to take it easy. Whether you're on vacation, visiting for work, or live on the island, the great outdoors offer endless opportunities to relax and have fun.

STUART VILLANUEVA/THE DAILY NEWS

SEAWALL

At 10.4 miles long, the seawall attracts walkers, joggers, bicyclists, surfers, sunbathers, skaters and sightseers year-round. It's a great place to exercise or just kick back and watch the waves at sunrise.

SURFING

With 32 miles of beachfront, it's no surprise that surfing is a popular activity in Galveston. The city has designated surfing areas, and surfboard rentals are available at most of the surf shops along Seawall Boulevard.

KEVIN M. COX/THE DAILY NEWS

OUTDOOR SPORTS

If outdoor sports are more your style, the island has plenty to offer. Pick up a game of beach volleyball at courts on East Beach, Stewart Beach or Sea Star Base Galveston. Grab a racket and head to one of 20 public tennis courts. Slow things down with a round of golf at Galveston Country Club (open to visitors for golf and restaurant facilities), Moody Gardens Golf Course and Magic Carpet Golf on Seawall Boulevard.

JENNIFER REYNOLDS/THE DAILY NEWS

FISHING

For many anglers, fishing isn't just a pastime — it's a way of life. From surf fishing to offshore charters, the Galveston Bay area hosts more sports fishermen than any other spot on the Texas Coast, with more than 100 species of fish caught here regularly. Some local favorites include speckled trout, redfish, flounder, golden croaker, drum and Spanish mackerel.

KAYAKING

Galveston Island State Park offers three kayak trails that are largely protected by breakwater, ranging in length from 2.6 to 4.8 miles. Artist Boat also provides guided interpretive tours to places of natural significance on Galveston Island and Galveston Bay via kayak.

BIRDING

Three-fourths of all North American species travel through Galveston during fall and spring migration, and bird sanctuaries thrive from the eastern tip of the Island to Galveston Island State Park on the west end. One of the most popular birding destinations is the Dos Vacas Muertas Bird Sanctuary, which sits on a 6-acre plot of land on the west end of Galveston Island.

SHOP & SAVOR

There have long been rumors of hidden treasure on Galveston Island, but the truth is that residents and visitors find treasure every day in the many shops and boutiques around the Island. From the latest fashions to one-of-a-kind antiques, Galveston retail outlets offer something for everyone.

Getting geared up for the beach? The seawall is the place to be. Beachwear, beach supplies, surfing gear and souvenirs can be found in the many shops along the beach front.

Head to The Strand Historic District for antiques, vintage clothing or artwork created by some of Galveston's finest artists. Local galleries are filled with original artwork and collectibles, custom framing and jewelry. You'll also find specialty gift shops that offer intriguing finds for foodies, chocoholics, bookworms, athletes and clothes horses.

On Broadway, the island's beautiful six-lane, palm tree-lined main thoroughfare, look for furnishings, flooring, home accessories and all things home décor. Broadway also boasts block after block of fabulous Victorian homes from which to get inspiration for your own home remodeling project.

When the shopping is done, replenish your strength at one of Galveston's many eateries. With more than 100 restaurants, the island is a diner's dream — and the food often comes with a view. Many of the eateries are tucked into historic structures, nestled in courtyards or overlooking the water.

Whether you are up for a flavorful adventure or prefer to stick to good old-fashioned country cooking, this small town with big city tastes has you covered. Greek, German, Czech, Asian, Italian, Mediterranean, Mexican and Continental cuisine are among the offerings from around the world. Galveston even does barbecue and Cajun, burgers and beer, and macaroni and cheese.

Don't forget to save room for dessert. Key lime pie, saltwater taffy, tres leches cake, Italian ices, baklava, pecan pie and gourmet cupcakes are a few local favorites.

A historical black and white photograph of the entrance to the Daily News building. The entrance features two large arched doorways flanking a central stone pillar. Above the pillar is a decorative sign that reads "The Galveston News" and "ESTABLISHED 1842". Five men in 19th-century attire, including suits and hats, are standing in front of the entrance. The overall image has a dark, sepia-toned appearance.

TEXAS' OLDEST NEWSPAPER

We have survived through wars, recessions, depressions, floods and hurricanes. We have covered Galveston County since 1842 and continue on today as your local news source.
